RazorGator Interactive Group Names John Wallace as General Manager, TicketOS

Los Angeles, CA – (May 21, 2008) RazorGator Interactive Group., a leading full-service secondary ticket and event experience company in the sports and entertainment markets announces the appointment of John Wallace as the General Manager TicketOS, a division of RazorGator that offers the leading on-demand corporate ticket-management software.

A seasoned veteran in the digital software and SaaS industry, Mr. Wallace brings a wealth of knowledge to TicketOS. Prior to joining RazorGator, Wallace served at Iron Mountain Inc. in a variety of executive positions including Vice President of Sales and Marketing for Iron Mountain Digital, a high tech digital solutions company, General Manager for Accutrac Software, records management division, and as Vice President of Sales. Wallace also served as Vice President of Customer Operations and Vice President of Corporate Sales for CS&T – Corporate Software & Technology, as well as an executive role with Merisel, Inc.

"John brings a great deal of experience to our fast growing TicketOS division," comments Jeff Lapin, CEO of RazorGator. "His abilities to develop software and customer relationships will drive the continued future growth and success of TicketOS. I look forward to having John as a key member of our management team."

TicketOS delivers real-time visibility into a corporation's ticket inventory in order to allocate, track and utilize tickets more efficiently and effectively than ever before and allows companies to maximize their investment in sports and entertainment sponsorships. In addition, the TicketOS ConciergeSM service allows corporations to buy tickets directly from RazorGator while still using the same command and control feature that the TicketOS platform offers.
